SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—For 20 tense minutes, two damaged jets—a bomber and a tanker—circled high above the Pacific after colliding.

Their skippers talked by radio with Air Force brass and engineers from the company that made the planes, trying to decide whether to ditch 50 miles off the coast or try to land at Mather Air Force Base "near here."

Finally, the planes were ordered to Mather. They landed successfully and none of the crew was injured.

Col. Merrill N. Moore told how the KC135 tanker and the B52 bomber tangled but declined to say if the B52 carried nuclear weapons.

How Mishap Occurred

"We have occasional missions out of here with thermonuclear weapons," he said. "I can't say whether this plane carried them."

The tanker had fueled the bomber when one of its crew members noticed smudges on the B52's left wing, Moore related.

Lt. Col. Garland J. Smith of Sacramento moved his tanker close to the bomber to take a look.

He had been asked to do this by Capt. Charles B. Layton of Sacramento, pilot of the B52.

The crash ripped two-thirds of the stabilizer section of the tail assembly from the B52 and tore away an engine from the four-engine KC135.

Gleason Is Floored

PARIS (AP)—Jackie Gleason is nursing a king-sized head bump after losing to the scenery.

A scene in Gleason's new movie called for several lightweight balsa timbers to fall on him. But other parts of the set tumbled down too, and Gleason was pulled out of the debris unconscious.

A doctor checked the comedian, and after a rest he continued work on final scenes for the movie "Gigot," which Gene Kelly is directing.

Finishing Touches Are Ready On Document for Progress

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Western Hemisphere statesmen put finishing touches today on a historic declaration allying the American states in a mighty push for progress.

President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program will become a reality Wednesday when ministers of 20 American states—and perhaps 21—gather for a ceremonial signing of the Declaration of Punta del Este. It will be the final act in the Inter-American Economic Conference which has been meeting here since Aug. 5.

West Berliners Clash With Reds

West Berliners and foreigners as wished to enter East Berlin, among them about 15,000 persons who regularly work there.

Perhaps to cut off the possibility that West Germans would make inciting calls to relatives and friends in the East, the Communists severed phone service to West Germany about 4 a.m.

A spokesman for the Bonn Postal Ministry said the East German government gave no explanation.

Like City of War

"Paper protests are not enough," shouted angry demonstrators among about 4,000 West Berliners who marched to headquarters of the West Berlin city government.

As the clampdown on traffic cut the great tide of refugees to a trickle, East Berlin looked like a city at war.

A U.S. Army spokesman refused to say whether any special precautions are being taken by the 5,000-man American garrison that it is "watching the situation closely."

The ban did not apply to the 15,000 West Berliners who work in East Berlin or to traffic between West Germany and West Berlin, including the supply line to the Allied garrisons that Soviet Premier Khrushchev wants to force out of the city.

Both the United States and Britain planned formal protests to the Russians.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk denounced the new division of Berlin as a "flagrant violation" of Soviet agreements with the Allies to treat the city as a single unit. Moscow in the past has rejected such protests and shunted them to the East German regime, which the Western powers do not recognize and refuse to negotiate with.

Brandt Lists Actions

Dr. Willy Brandt told the demonstrators some of the things he was going to do:

1. Have a look at Communist party offices in West Berlin.

2. Talk to the Allies about the Communist management of the elevated railway system in West Berlin—badly upset by the new rules. The Communists run the railway system throughout the old German capital.

Temps rose to a danger point. But the angry crowds which demonstrated at the Western side of the Brandenburg Gate Sunday night were gone this morning. Most people were at work. Between 70 and 100 youngsters stood on the Western side staring across at the Communist guards.

The Red clampdown was effective at least for the moment in damming the flood of refugees. Only about 25 to 30 made it across the border Sunday after a record of 4,100 crossed from noon Saturday until the Communists closed the border to East Germans before dawn Sunday.

The 80,000 East Berliners who work in the Western sector failed to show up at their jobs this morning—the first working day since the Reds barred all East Germans from travel to the West unless they got a special permit. So far there was no evidence any permits were being issued.

No Word in West

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt reported that Red police went into action against a group of East Berliners protesting the restriction Sunday, but West Berlin police said they had no word of any disturbances in the Soviet Zone today.

Apparently there was no immediate attempt by the workers to defy the ban, but many in the West feared an uprising that might draw the Western Allies and the Soviet Union into war.

So apparently did the Communists. The troops massed in East Berlin—in the Soviet-style uniforms were seen just squatting around and looking rather disinterested in the commotion. Many were reading extra editions of Neues Deutschland, the official East German Communist organ, which carried details of the border closing.

Swarms With Police

All but one of East Berlin's stations for the elevated railway and subway to West Berlin were closed and under heavy guard.

The one station open was for West Berliners only. It swarmed with police on the lookout for East Berliners.

Barbed wire barricades were thrown up all along the border, and only 13 of the previous 80 crossing points were left open to traffic. At several of the streets were partially torn up, reducing traffic to a single line.

The outbreaks of violence were scattered and spasmodic. There were no reports of gunfire.

One of the most serious border clashes was in the Kreuzberg district of the American Sector of West Berlin. Welding clubs and hurling smoke and tear gas bombs, Communist police beat back about 1,000 West German youths advancing on the border.

A mob of West Berliners beat up a Communist policeman in the French Sector's Bernauer Allee, but he was finally rescued by West Berlin police.

May Hit at Economy

He promised Allied counter-measures but did not say what they would be. Many expect they will be economic sanctions against the East German regime, already troubled by shortages in food, material and manpower.

Sources in Bonn, however, considered it unlikely that the West German government would retaliate by cutting off the $400-million annual trade between West and East Germany. These sources said as the restrictions on movement in Berlin were a violation of the U.S.-British-French-Russian agreements, it was up to the Western Big Three to do something about the situation, not

H. David Slover, 84, of 23 Van Buren Street, died in this city Saturday. Mr. Slover was born in Lomontville, a son of the late John J. and Rachel Davis Slover. He had been a resident of Kingston most of his life. He was a carpenter by trade and was employed for a number of years by William Schryver and the Slover, Jansen and Schline Contracting Company. He was also engaged in the carpentry business for himself for a number of years. His wife, the former Ella Burger, died in 1954. Funeral will be held at the Jenson & Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl Street, Tuesday 2 p.m. Friends may call from 7 to 9 tonight. Burial was in the North Marbletown Cemetery.

After questioning the two youths who were in the car, Troopers John Parmenter and John Maher took them to the "Treat 'Em Right" service station in this community near the Massachusetts line.

Yells He'd Been Robbed

As they drove up, the station attendant, Christopher Miller, 55, of Kinderhook Lake, ran out with his hands tied, yelling that he had been robbed.

About 20 youths converged on the area and later picked up two more youths as they emerged from the woods about 1,000 feet from the station.

Money Recovered

State Police said the money was recovered from a hiding place in the woods.

Troopers said all four youths would be charged with first-degree robbery. They identified the two found in the car as Francis De Mars and Thomas Moore, both 20 and both of Pittsfield, Mass. The two arrested later were identified as Joseph Borack, 19, and Gerald Derby, 21, both of Hancock, Mass.

Miller said two men wearing hoods had tied him up and emptied the cash register. One kept a hand in his pocket as though he carried a gun, Miller said, but troopers reported the youths were not armed when arrested.

The East German travel restrictions were aimed at halting the flight of refugees to the West and forcing East Berliners working in West Berlin to swell East Germany's below-strength labor force.

The ban did not apply to the 15,000 West Berliners who work in East Berlin or to traffic between West Germany and West Berlin, including the supply line to the Allied garrisons that Soviet Premier Khrushchev wants to force out of the city.

Heated Debates Expected Today On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — With clear sailing apparently assured in the Senate, the administration's foreign aid program heads into stormy weather in the House today.

On both sides of Capitol Hill, debate was scheduled on measures authorizing a five-year $8.8-billion development loan program financed by Treasury borrowing, plus the regular cash outlays for overseas assistance in the current fiscal year.

The Senate has before it an amendment by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., and others under which either house could veto any development loan over $10 million.

After two days of talk, the House expects to start voting on leaders predicting passage of their version of the program Thursday or Friday. The administration faces a stiff fight against efforts there to limit the loan program to two years and to cut the amount of funds available.

Will Seek Quick Votes to Strike Three Car Firms

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Quick votes to strike in support of new contract demands will be asked of more than half a million United Auto Workers at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler plants across the country.

Current three-year contracts between the UAW and the Big Three auto makers have only 17 more days to run.

The UAW's International Executive Board authorized the taking of strike votes among Big Three workers, at a special strategy meeting Sunday.

But at the same time the board turned down a request for a similar vote among members employed by American Motors Corp., the only auto maker thus far to offer a new wage package.

AMC surprisingly offered a profit-sharing plan, which the UAW demanded in bargaining but didn't get three years ago.

Some unionists expressed the hope that balloting could be completed this week or within 10 days at most. Executive board members expressed confidence that overwhelming strike approval would be forthcoming.

Contracts at GM, Ford and Chrysler all expire Aug. 31. The union's executive board said it would meet again Aug. 29 to fix a strike target if progress is not made meanwhile on new pacts.

Seeking Motive For Death of Two On Cabin Cruiser

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Police sought a motive today for what they termed the murder-suicide of a young couple whose bodies were found on a half-submerged cabin cruiser adrift in Lake Ontario after their first date.

Richard Muir, 24, apparently shot Carol Colton, 19, then turned the gun on himself after trying to sink the 22-foot craft by cutting suction hoses, police said.

Coast Guardsmen found the bodies Saturday after boarding the boat six miles offshore.

Muir's father told police Carol was the first girl his son had ever dated. Both had worked at Eastman Kodak Co. He lived in Rochester and she in suburban Irondequoit.

Miss Colton was shot in the chest and head, and Muir in the head, police said. The .22-caliber rifle believed to have been used in shooting was found near the bodies.

Police said there were no signs of a struggle.

The two left a Genesee River dock Friday night. Muir's father reported them missing Saturday morning.

Muir's efforts to sink the boat in the 400-foot depth failed because there was enough air left in the craft to keep it partially afloat, police said.

Freedom Riders In Court Today To Face Appeals

By VAN SAVELL

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—More than 160 convicted "Freedom Riders," rallied by hymn-singing sympathizers, appear in Hinds County Court today for appeal trials.

County Judge Russell Moore

convenes court at 3 p.m. EST, and under a year-old rule all 192 riders who posted appeal bonds after their breach of peace convictions were required to appear or forfeit their $500 bonds.

But at least five of the segregation-defying riders earlier had announced their intention of not appearing. Their attorney petitioned a federal court to receive the five cases, and they were automatically transferred to U.S. Dist. Court.

Officials of the ride-sponsoring Congress on Racial Equality (CORE) said at least 180 of the riders were in Jackson Sunday night.

The convicted riders returned to this Mississippi capital city of 70,000 in the same methods they had used to travel here earlier.

But this time they refused to enter any segregated facilities.

The total number of arrested riders swelled to 307 Sunday, however, as two more persons tested segregation barriers in a bus terminal here. They were arrested by Jackson police as quickly as the earlier riders.

Police said there were no signs of a struggle.

The two left a Genesee River dock Friday night. Muir's father reported them missing Saturday morning.

Upstate Worker Admits Slaying

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A 29-year-old laundry worker has admitted the love-triangle slaying of his wife, whose body was found floating in the State Barge Canal.

Police said Edward Ketwig, who earlier denied any knowledge of the death of his wife Rose Marie, 45, confessed Sunday. A female companion, Mrs. Winifred Caton, 35, admitted taking part in the slaying, police said, shortly after the woman's body was discovered by a canoeist Saturday.

Skin divers searched the canal Sunday for a hammer Mrs. Caton told police she used to strike Mrs. Ketwig as the trio sat in an automobile near the canal last Wednesday night.

Ketwig admitted tossing his wife's body into the canal after helping Mrs. Caton beat her, police said.

Detective Daniel Sharpe said the slaying was the result of a love-triangle and that "apparently Ketwig's wife was in the way."

80TH MILESTONE OF MERCY

Disasters of nature and of human accident cannot be prevented. They strike free men and Communists alike. But in considerable measure they can be planned for, and today in many American communities they are.

We can thank the Red Cross, perhaps the most remarkable service agency in human history, for the fact that this is so.

At the end of this month, it will have been helping communities and individuals cope with disaster for a solid 80 years.

No longer do we wait for flood, fire, hurricane, tornado, drought, earthquake, mine collapse, plane crash or train wreck to happen. Most areas have plans and trained people ready to act. And local Red Cross chapters know they can call on the national organization the moment trouble grows too big.

In its eight decades, which began with help for victims of a grave forest fire in upper Michigan in 1881, the Red Cross has managed nearly 8,000 separate disaster operations. That comes to more than eight a month for the whole span. The average has been 25 a month in recent years.

Set against the multibillion-dollar outlays the government makes today for defense, foreign aid and other major enterprises, the $323 million spent by the Red Cross at home and abroad in 80 years seems a modest expenditure.

But that sum has come from voluntary contributions of the people, even though the agency has national official status under act of Congress.

More than four-fifths of the Red Cross's "disaster relief dollar" goes for long-term individually family aid—for food, clothing, medical care, replacement of household things, repair and rebuilding of homes. And most of the money is spent in the stricken communities, to help shore up their often disrupted economies.

If we have not experienced disaster in some form, we have all seen its ravages pictured in photograph or movie film. For 80 years, ever since the infant Red Cross reached out from its birthplace in Dansville, N. Y., to the fire victims of Michigan, this great agency has been setting the picture right again.

Many Americans through their generosity and good efforts have had a part in that enterprise. More than ever will their aid be needed if the Red Cross is to serve in the future as it has up to now.

The President is reported very sensitive to criticism. Is there a dermatologist who knows how to thicken a Presidential skin?

THAT EXTRA THRUST

Time, in its issue of July 21, has an interesting article on the state of business. There are good signs—one being an increase in buying by industry for stockpiling purposes. However, there is a belief that inventories have about reached their peak, because businessmen are trying hard to keep stock and sales in closer balance than in past times.

Increased government spending is also expected to give business a lift. "But," says Time, "if the 1961 recovery is to be brisk, something more is needed. For that extra thrust, economists are looking hopefully toward the free-spending American consumer."

In other words, the state of business, and the state of economy as a whole, will depend to a major extent on retail sales—the sales made to individuals and families. Our superb system of mass production would be impotent without an equally superb system of mass distribution to move the goods into the hands of the people who want them, will buy them, will consume them and buy more.

Retailers, for the most obvious of reasons will do their utmost to increase consumer buying. Their measure of success will largely determine the degree of prosperity we will enjoy.

THE WALKER CASE

The case of General Edwin A. Walker does not die. The only publicized charge against him is excessive patriotism. For this heinous offense, he should, at least, have a court-martial in public, so that all may know how evil this man has been.

Senator Strom Thurmond has taken up the cudgels for General Walker. He calls attention to a memorandum prepared by Senator Fulbright in which the Arkansas Senator takes the position that right wing propaganda activities by military officers create important obstacles to President Kennedy's program.

In the first place, one must ask Senator Fulbright to which of the President's various programs, he refers. Secondly, how can the inculcation of patriotism interfere with any President's program? Senator Thurmond makes the point that the essence of Senator Fulbright's memorandum is "the philosophy candidly expressed . . . that the American people are not to be trusted with governing themselves, particularly with reference to matters of foreign policy."

Senator Fulbright, in his memorandum, said:

"The American people have never really been tested in such a struggle. In the long run, it is quite possible that the principal problem of leadership will be, if it is not already, to restrain the desire of the people to hit the Communists with everything we've got, particularly if there are more Cubans and Laos. Pride in victory, and frustration in restraint, during the Korean War, led to MacArthur's revolt and McCarthyism."

Senator Fulbright here raised the essential question that faces our nation today: Will Khrushchev drive us into some form of totalitarian government? Will the fear of Soviet Russia force us to give up our constitutional characteristics and adopt some form of dictatorship, whether it be by a Fascistic elite group or by Communists? The distrust of the people by the intellectuals is a normal response to the seriousness of the times which face us, but Senator Fulbright is wrong, as to date and fact, when he suggests that it was the Korean War which led to the activities of Senator Joe McCarthy.

What produced McCarthyism is now producing the John Birch Society and other groups, some of them less doctrinaire and less fanatical. It is the growing feeling among large masses of our people that in the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower Administrations, elements invaded and infiltrated the American government which did not believe in American sovereignty, which were overawed by Soviet Russia's success that they were prepared to capitulate to Russian policy and purposes. It is ridiculous to discount these popular movements. They are growing rapidly and whether one agrees or disagrees with their programs they are a reflex of a growing public mood of distrust.

Senator Thurmond says:

"... unless our most urgent problem is the Communist menace, then truly, there is little need to alert the American public to the menace of the Cold War. The need to give the American people the facts about Communism exists only if Communism is our number one problem. This (the Fulbright) memorandum states, however, that the principal problem is, and I quote: 'to restrain the desire of the people to hit the Communists with everything we've got, particularly if there are Cubans and Laos.' . . . I have been told by the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs that 'everybody knows the enemy.' I must be very confused, for I thought the enemy was Communism. I did not realize that, as this memorandum says so bluntly, the American public constitutes the principal problem."

Unfortunately two issues are raised here. Senator Fulbright raises the issue of the ignorance of the American people; Senator Thurmond raises the issue of the peril of Communism. Each one of these issues needs full discussion and debate. If the American people are no longer capable of governing themselves, something very awful has happened in this country. Our system of education has collapsed. Our newspapers and other media of information are futile and purposeless. It is too strong an indictment.

The most that the Arkansas Senator can mean is that it is difficult for most men to evaluate current problems. This is true in high places as well as among ordinary people. Certainly President Kennedy evaluated the Cuban situation incorrectly as Khrushchev evaluated his relationship to Khrushchev incorrectly.

This discussion will be continued.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

President Kennedy's 10-year Alliance for Progress program for Latin America offers a direct and specific challenge to the 20-year program of the Communist Party recently made public in Moscow. The Russian program will be presented to the 22nd

Communist Party Congress in October.

The Alliance for Progress program is being planned by the Inter-American Economic and Social Council meeting now going on in Montevideo, Uruguay.

U. S. Secretary of Treasury G.

Douglas Dillon, heading the American delegation of 40 experts to the conference, hopes that at its conclusion in mid-

August, the 21 American republics, or most of them, will sign a "Declaration of Montevideo" which will start the ball rolling.

Comparison of the draft Moscow and Montevideo programs is most revealing, as a study in goals and methods.

The Moscow program declares that capitalism and communism are engaged in a critical competition for favor with the underdeveloped countries. It predicts that communism will win because it has a more efficient, rapid, better planned system for lifiting people out of darkness and poverty.

Alliance for Progress will of

for a test of this Commie claim through the principle of self-help directed at long-term development of natural resources and the improvement of human resources through education, adequate pay for work more productive employment of manpower and better management.

calls for a real income per capita increase of 250 per cent over the next 20 years. The Montevideo program sets a minimum goal for economic growth of not less than 2.5 per cent a year per capita.

These figures are roughly comparable, though the Latin American program admits that goals will vary from country to country.

The Communist goal for agriculture—weakest sector of Soviet economy—calls principally for higher productivity in the state collective farms, with no change in system.

The Montevideo program calls for greatly expanded agricultural output and improved rural living conditions so that each farm family can sustain a decent standard of living.

A broad land reform program is called for to create well-equipped farms of economic size, with technical assistance, credit expansion and co-operative development for greater growth.

For all segments of economic life, the Alliance for Progress calls for effective operation of competitive forces without restrictive controls on private activity—in other words, individual growth and private enterprise, not socialism.

THE COMMUNIST PROGRAM PROMISES that in 20 years the Soviet housing problem will be solved and the principle of free rent will be introduced.

The Declaration of Montevideo will call for progressive replacement of urban and rural slums by decent low-cost housing, with an ultimate goal of adequate community facilities—water, light, fuel and sewage for all.

On general economic growth, the Communist plan promises a sweeping 400 per cent increase in national income within 20 years, with steel production of 250 million tons—four times greater than now—and tripled power production.

In a much more realistic and conservative approach, the Alliance for Progress calls for the formulation within 18 months of comprehensive and well-conceived plans for economic and social development.

The plan mentions specifically allocation of available resources for increased investment in agriculture, industry and basic services such as power and transportation.

IN SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT, the Communists promise expansion of free medical care, rest, vacation, education and welfare.

The Montevideo plan sets as its goals for social development the spread of equal opportunity for the individual at all social and economic levels, a minimum of four years of primary education for every child in Latin America by 1970, elimination of adult illiteracy, expanded primary, secondary and higher educational facilities, expanded public health facilities, reduced infant mortality, control of endemic disease and a lengthened life span.

Today in World Affairs*What Makes Khrushchev Blow Hot and Cold in Talks

By DAVID LAWRENCE

IN EUROPE, Aug. 13—What kind of man, really, is Nikita Khrushchev? One day he talks sense, and the next day he talks nonsense. Is he the same type as Hitler—an irresponsible dictator? Or does he simply lack the sensible advice that any public relations man of experience in world affairs would give him and thereby perhaps make him a man of wider influence? Why does he continually underestimate the intelligence of Western readers of newspapers and listeners to the radio?

Officials Study Canal Site for State Park Area

Phillipsport, just over the Ulster County line in Sullivan County, was the scene last week of a survey team tramping down the old weed-grown tow path of the long abandoned Delaware and Hudson Canal.

Dr. Albert B. Corey, state historian, New York State Department of Education, Abraham George Jr., of the Forest Preserve Parks, New York State Conservation Department, and Manville B. Wakefield, president of the Sullivan County Historical Society, were establishing the feasibility of restoring a segment of the Delaware and Hudson Canal into a "living museum," one in which the old canal boats would once again be pulled by mules and horses down the leisurely winding waterway. Adjacent to the canal proper, park areas would be developed into a camp site, picnic grove, and recreational facilities.

Just below Phillipsport the first shovel full of earth was turned over on July 13, 1825 by Philip Hone, then mayor of New York City. This modest beginning to an immense undertaking was destined to become the prime mover of anthracite from the Scranton-Carbondale areas to tidewater at Rondout. The canal proper started at Honesdale, Pennsylvania, wound its way down the Lackawaxen River to the Delaware, thence to Port Jervis where it made an abrupt turn up the long valley to Kingston.

During the mid-19th century, two million tons of coal annually was not uncommon to this transportation giant that literally opened up vital sections of Ulster, Sullivan and Orange counties.

Two scale models concerned with this canal restoration program have been prepared by Manville Wakefield and will be on display in the Sullivan County Museum, now under construction, in Monticello. The museum will present the canal displays in mid-September.

The states are "close enough to the people to understand their problems and strong enough fiscally to deal with those problems effectively," Rockefeller said.

Barclay Heights Man To Face Cruelty Charge

Clarence R. Kirkpatrick, 27, of Barclay Heights pleaded innocent to a charge of cruelty to animals during arraignment Saturday night before Saugerties Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers, and was released in his own custody for trial Friday at 10 a.m.

Kingston troopers arrested Kirkpatrick on a warrant issued by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Troopers T. J. Morrissey and R. E. Mackey said the charge filed by the SPCA indicated that Kirkpatrick reportedly left eight German shepherd dogs at home for over 14 hours and failed to provide water.

The SPCA took the dogs in custody.

Defense Attacks Evidence As Eichmann Trial Closes

By GARVEN HUGGINS

JERUSALEM (AP)—The trial of Adolf Eichmann ended today with an appeal from his defense attorney for the court to "close his file and judge him no more."

Presiding Justice Moshe Landau concluded the historic trial with the announcement that judgment and sentence will be handed down in November.

Eichmann's West German defense attorney, Robert Servatius,

Elected Officer Of 29th Division Veterans Group

EUGENE A. FREER

A past commander of Kings-ton Post 150, American Legion, Eugene A. Freer of 108 Downs Street is being congratulated today for his recent election as vice commander of the Department of New York, 29th Division Association.

Freer, a retired Mobil Oil Company representative, was commander of the local Legion Post in 1936-1937. He learned of his election when he returned from a tour of old World War I battlefields in France and Germany. While in Europe, he also visited Switzerland, Belgium and the Netherlands.

A veteran of World War I, he served as a driver for the Chief of Staff in the 29th Division and at one time was General John J. Pershing's chauffeur.

In his new post, Freer will represent this section and the local 29th Division Organization at the state level. He will attend the national convention and reunion at Statler Hotel, Washington, D. C., during the Labor Day weekend.

Area 29th Division veterans are invited to contact Freer for further information regarding the organization. This is the well-known Blue and Gray Division that landed on the Omaha Beachhead in World War II.

had the last word in the 17-week-old trial and rejected the complete case against the former Gestapo colonel accused of responsibility for the slaughter of six million European Jews in World War II.

Obeyed Hitler's Orders

Summing up for the defense, Servatius assailed point by point the prosecution charges that Eichmann readily and relentlessly carried out Hitler's orders for the extermination of Europe's Jews.

"This trial should have as its central theme not revenge but thought and truth," the defense attorney said.

The conviction of the accused cannot avenge the atrocities committed. The time that passes must bring an end to the sufferings and the wounds. Let there be a Solomonic judgment here to show the world the wisdom of the Jewish nation. I propose to this court to stop the proceedings against the accused, to close his file and to judge him no more."

Verdict Is Delayed

Landau thanked Servatius and then adjourned the court. There was no indication as to why a verdict would be delayed until November. One had been expected in October.

Eichmann sat immovable during his counsel's summation of his defense.

As the judges retired to begin considering their verdict, Eichmann was led from the glass prisoner's dock where he has sat at all sessions since the first one April 11.

Police reinforcements around the building indicated Eichmann soon may be moved back to the small prison near Haifa where he was held after his capture by Israeli agents in Argentina in May of 1960. He has occupied a cell in the court building during the trial.

In his summing up, Servatius insisted that Eichmann was bound by an oath of loyalty and by orders from the state.

"If what the prosecution says is correct, then all the Nazis still being hunted can come out of hiding," Servatius declared.

"The great guilty one has been found—Adolf Eichmann."

The stocky, white-haired defense attorney challenged the authority of the special three-judge tribunal to try Eichmann for crimes against the Jewish nation.

"Since Israel did not exist as a nation at the time of Eichmann's activities, there could have been no crime against the Jewish nation," Servatius declared.

He also claimed the prosecution had failed to prove Eichmann:

1. Was an accomplice in the murder of the Jews.

2. Transferred gold teeth and hair of extermination victims to Germany.

3. Had a hand in the sterilization of Jews.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a loss in moderate trading early this afternoon as the Berlin crisis bred caution among traders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .80 at 253.60 with industrials down 2.00, railroads down .20 and utilities off .10.

Loss of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered gainers in the same range.

The worsening situation in Berlin came after a three-week advance by the popular market averages and brought a slight decrease in trading.

Motors, coppers, oils, chemicals, rubbers, airlines, drugs, aircrafts and electrical equipments were among the losers. Steels were mostly higher as orders for September delivery were reported increasing.

Farm implements and mail order-retails were mixed. Electronics were mostly lower. Texas Instruments continuing last week's decline with a 4-point loss.

An exception was Zenith which rose 11 1/2 to 170 on a delayed opening block of 13,400 shares.

The company proposed a 3-for-1 stock split after the New York market close Friday.

Chrysler and Ford, off more than a point each, were the big losers among the auto stocks.

Although U. S. Steel was off close to a point, other major steel producers advanced fractionally.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.23 at 720.38.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in moderately active trading.

Corporate bonds were irregularly higher. U. S. government bonds were unchanged.

Library System Adds Member, Now Totals 36

With the acceptance of Bloomingburg's application for membership by James E. Allen, New York State Commissioner of Education, and by its board of trustees, the Ramapo Catskill Library System added the 36th library to the cooperative plan.

Chartered in December, 1959, with 33 libraries from Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster Counties, the system has expanded to include three additional libraries, 2 from Orange County and 1 from Sullivan.

The library system supports its member libraries with interlibrary loan service, rotating collections of books and other materials, reference information, and advisory field work.

Since operations began in August, 1960, the system has supplied its member libraries with 6,174 books, 186 phonograph records, and filled 2,123 inter-library loan requests.

New services to be started in 1961 include the provision of 16 mm films for member libraries and a bookmobile for rural areas of Sullivan and Ulster Counties.

Propaganda About Berlin Becomes a Shouting Match

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—More talk, more notes, more protests. That's all the Allies can do about the latest Communist squeeze on Berlin, unless they want to fight over it. While they talk tough, they're not talking that tough.

Over the weekend the Soviet and East German Communists put a flat stop to the flood of East German refugees who have been fleeing in record numbers to West Germany by simply crossing over from East Berlin to West Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, backed by President Kennedy, while denouncing the sudden blockade against the refugees as violation of a 12-year-old East-West agreement, used the occasion for some anti-Soviet propaganda.

Real Shouting Match

This won't improve East-West relations. But, since a show of force to break the blockade against the refugees and let them through might mean war, Rusk probably feels propaganda is the most belligerent weapon he can afford to use.

Besides, the Russians have been using the Berlin dispute for all the propaganda they can milk out of it. So Rusk's statement Sunday just added up to a few more words in what has become an international shouting "match."

Rusk, pointing out that the Russians wouldn't let the East Germans vote on whether they wanted a Communist government, said by their flight they had "voted with their feet" against communism.

The flight alone, without the added kick from Rusk, was embarrassing enough to Premier Khrushchev who only last week had embarrassed himself by demanding that the West recognize the "grandeur" of the Soviet Union.

Two Things Wrong

He must have blurted this out without thinking, for there were two things wrong with it:

1. He lifted it wholesale from the sonorous phrasing of French President Charles de Gaulle who is forever talking about the "grandeur" of France.

2. It is nationalistic and therefore contrary to the teachings of Khrushchev's favorite Soviet saint, Lenin, who insisted that communism is non-nationalistic.

The agreement which Rusk said the Soviets had violated—by stopping East Germans from crossing into West Berlin from East Berlin—was made in Paris in 1949 by the American, British, French and Soviet foreign ministers.

That was after the Russians had abandoned the blockade of Berlin, and the four ministers made an agreement for the future relationship of the city to the Western world.

They agreed that in the four zones of Berlin under their authority each would have an obligation to: "take the measures necessary to ensure the normal functioning and utilization of rail, water and road transport for... movement of persons and goods."

Not Real Solution

It doesn't require much imagination to feel that any agreement about Berlin with Moscow is only a delay and not a solution.

The Russians—who still control the access routes to Berlin through East Germany—have announced they will sign a peace treaty with the East German Communists and turn control of the routes over to them.

The Allies protest this because they don't recognize the East German Communists as the legal government of East Germany. Dealing with them about using the access routes would to some extent be a sign of recognition.

But if the Russians give the East Germans control, nothing is likely to occur right away. However, if the East Germans tried to shut Berlin off altogether from the West, there probably would be fighting.

COMMUTER PREFERS READING TO IDLE CHATTER

Q: I am a daily commuter and enjoy reading the newspaper or a book, on my way to and from the office. Quite often someone I know only casually will sit beside me on the train and after commenting on the weather, or some such general subject, we really have nothing to talk about. Could I be considered rude if I opened my book or newspaper and started to read after greeting her, or must I try to make conversation?

A: Should you find yourself seated next to an acquaintance you could offer to share part of your newspaper with her.

County Divers Adopt Pennant As Safety Flag

Ulster County Divers club recently adopted a red and white pennant as its official diving safety flag, and asked operators of waterway craft to proceed at all caution when the pennant is visible at the surface.

The flag has a diagonal white stripe running across the field of red.

The pennant floating on the surface cautions water craft operators that one or more skin divers are below the surface nearby.

About the Folks

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Qualey of North Anson, Maine, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Joyce Lynne, born August 4. Mrs. Charles Qualey is the former Barbara Clement of Rifton.

point and all caution should be exercised. Ulster County Divers suggest that 30 feet is a safe distance to keep when this banner is seen on the surface.

When the flag is mounted on a boat, small floats in the vicinity of the boat will indicate that two or more skin divers are below the surface nearby.

Health for All

Ups and Downs

Sometimes it seems as though there's always something to spoil a vacation trip. But one thing that's preventable these days is motion sickness.

Anybody who's been seasick, carsick or airsick knows how miserable motion sickness can make you. You're not afraid you'll die of it. You usually fear you won't die but will have to live through it.

The symptoms are dizziness, nausea and vomiting and they don't let up until you're on firm ground again. The misery comes from the effect of up and down motion on the balancing mechanism of the middle ear. For that reason, anyone subject to motion sickness will be more comfortable in the front seat of a car, or the middle of a plane or ship, where the motion is less.

In addition to position, there are drugs which can help prevent motion sickness or stop it once it's started. Some can be bought over the counter, but it is smartest to get a doctor's advice about what to buy. Some of the drugs have to be taken frequently. With others, a single dose suffices for 24 hours. And some make you drowsy, which can be dangerous if you happen to be driving. A doctor will know which is the best and safest.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Ulster County TB and Health Association, 125 Green Street.

The Kingston WCTU is now collecting gifts which will be distributed to veterans at Castle Point Hospital in Beacon.

Lucille Ball Has New Romance With Morton, Comedian

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's new man in Lucille Ball's life. The man is Gary Morton and he is a night club comedian. To give the story an extra, romantic twist, they met on a blind date.

Lucille is back in Hollywood after a European vacation. Her constant companion now, as then, is Morton, a tall, broad-shouldered New Yorker with an agile wit.

"Gary has made Lucille laugh again," says an intimate. "He's good for her."

By her own admission, Lucille was depressed after her divorce from her longtime co-star of "I Love Lucy," Desi Arnaz. She plunged into work, first in a movie with Bob Hope and then in a Broadway musical, "Wildcat."

The show almost did her in. She finally had to quit because of exhaustion.

Romance Comes

During the run of the show she met Morton. A friendship blossomed, then romance.

When I reached Lucille at her Beverly Hills manse, she admitted, "I've got a great guy."

Does this mean a marriage is in the offing?

"No, I have no plans to get married," she said, adding reflectively, "I'm afraid of marriage."

"I'm not," Morton said lightly. He has been occupying Lucille's guest house, and they were leaving for Lake Tahoe, where he will appear at Cal-Neva Lodge.

He explained that they met in New York on a date arranged by Paula Stewart, who played Lucille's sister in "Wildcat" and who is married to comedian Jack Carter.

Made It Through Army

Who is Gary Morton? He was born in New York City, a trucker's son. He attended public schools in Manhattan and, like many another comedian, graduated to show business via the U.S. Army.

After the war, he played clubs and theaters, first as an impressionist and later as a satirical comedian. He appeared on TV's comedy hour, in "Mr. Wonderful" on Broadway and in the better joints from Vegas to New York's Copacabana. Like Lucille, he has had one divorce.

Holds Business Ties

Despite the marital split, Lucille maintains close business ties with Arnaz. Asked about her future plans, she replied, "Desi knows more about them than I do."

She said that she'll probably do some TV specials for Desilu, including "Lucy Goes to Broadway." She plans a Dinah Shore show and another film with Hope, "Critic's Choice." It looks doubtful if she will ever return to the "Wildcat."

West Haverstraw Edges Braves, 7-6, in NY-NJ Finale

Ninth Inning Rally Fizzles In Dietz Game

The West Haverstraw Lumbermen didn't win the Western Division in the New York-New Jersey League this season. The Kingston Braves did. But the Rockland county tossers Saturday night whipped the Braves for the third time in four meetings, 7 to 6, at Dietz stadium.

Bob Schassler fanned the dangerous Hal Lewis to choke off a ninth inning threat in which Kingston scored twice and had the tying run on second base.

Schassler pitched a 10-hitter to outlast three Kingston flingers. Mike Spada started for Kingston but was lifted after four innings, trailing 4 to 2. He was charged with his first defeat of the season. Southpaw Frank Horan yielded three runs in two innings and John Risley pitched a scoreless inning.

Spada went out after George Biemel clouted a three-run homer in the fourth. The trouble started with a base on balls to Joe Klopchin and a hit batsman (Len Dellolio). Biemel sliced a drive to center which Sonny Thomas misplayed into a home run.

Holmquist Homers

Doug Holmquist slammed a home run to deep right center scoring Dave Musco ahead of him to make the score 7-4 in the sixth.

Ray Carleglio singled with one out in the ninth to ignite the Kingston rally. Bill Boehle was safe when second baseman, John Peterman, messed up his ground ball. Johnny Giampola flied out for the second out but Risley singled to center scoring Carleglio. Dave Musco's single to left delivered Boehle. Musco took second on the throw in but perished when Schassler bore down and fanned Lewis for the final out.

Beimel, who batted ninth in the West Haverstraw order, was "3 for 3" with a homer and two singles. Musco slashed two singles and a double and had a pair of runs batted in.

The game marked the final NY-NJ League action for Kings- ton until the championship series with the Poughkeepsie Hoe- Bowls.

Harry Tripp Is Winner Of 250 Lap Feature

Barry Tripp of Red Hook became the first Dutchess County driver to win the 250 lap Washburn Memorial race at the Rhinebeck Speedway in several years when he beat a crack field Saturday before a capacity crowd.

Tripp was the "pole" man for this classic run and he grabbed the lead on the first lap and held on for ten laps when a tangle between Carleton Hughes and Dick Hansen stopped the proceedings.

Later in the race Harry Brazez crashed the wall in a tangle with Terry Zimmerman and Vernon Becker also went into the wall.

On the 147th lap, Tripp challenged Russ Truelove and regained the lead. Billy Boo started to make a move with ninety laps to go and just before hitting the second position in the race, he had a flat. Meanwhile, Tripp kept his margin and went across the finish line with plenty to spare.

Truelove managed to finish second. Then came Boo, Al Ostrander, Ben Stone, Pete Peterson, Duane Lane, Harry Brazez, Gordon Cavanagh and Bob Agar.

Ron Kidd of Kingston copped the sedan race ahead of Ronnie

Jungle Survivor In Brazil Dies, Lived on Animals

GROVELAND, Mass. (AP) — Frank E. Lawrence, a former Army officer who once survived Brazilian jungles for several months by killing animals and eating them, died Sunday at a Haverhill Hospital. He was 76.

Lawrence became lost in the jungle while in Brazil to do survey work for a railroad. He subsisted on the wild animals he captured and killed.

A civil engineer, Lawrence designed much of Cuba's highway system. He was in charge of food relief in Yugoslavia after World War I.

He was a native of Callicoon, N.Y.

Town of Esopus Legion Post Fills Officer Vacancies

Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion announced officer vacancies filled by the executive committee at a recent special meeting, including the naming of Kenneth Bonville as commander.

Richard E. Howard, elected commander in May of this year, submitted his resignation.

The complete slate of officers, including Bonville, was announced by the executive committee today.

They are:

Vernon Frost, John Amarelo, and William Barclay, vice commanders; Edgar M. Ward, adjutant; Frank Auringer Sr., finance officer; J. Wilson Wilson, chaplain; Walter Sismilich, historian; Milton G. Tsitsas, sergeant-at-arms.

Members of the executive committee are C. W. Barth, Edgar Maurer, Richard Williams, Herbert Nestell, and Bruce Davis.

Delegates to Ulster County Committee are Bonville, Ward, Frost and Amarelo; alternates, Rodney Whittaker, Charles Ryder, Nelson Williams, and Auringer.

Preparations for the annual picnic of the children at Mother Cabrini School, West Park were announced. Brooklyn Boy Is Drowning Victim In Pine Bush Area

A 10-year-old Brooklyn boy vacationing in the Pine Bush area with his grandparents drowned Saturday afternoon in the Shawangunk Kill about two miles west of the village.

The body of Richard Thomas Weinheimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Weinheimer, was recovered by state police and firemen about 6:40 p.m. almost seven hours after the boy was reported missing.

Became Separated

Cpl. Michael Bonney of the Ellenville state police said the boy had been swimming with a companion, Stephen Weiser, 9, of Woodside, but they became separated and young Weiser thought the Weinheimer boy had perhaps returned to the cottage in the Pine Bush Lake Estates where he was staying.

When he was unable to find Weinheimer young Weiser told the boy's relatives who notified state police. This was about 4 p.m.

A detail of state police and volunteer firemen from the Pine Bush Fire Company proceeded to the scene and four of the volunteers began diving in the creek.

In 10 Feet of Water

The body of the boy was recovered from 10 feet of water about 15 feet offshore.

Coroner Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson ordered an autopsy and later issued a verdict of accidental death due to drowning.

Cpl. Bonney said the two boys had ridden their bicycles from the Pine Bush Estates to the creek. They went swimming in the creek at a point near the Margot Bungalow Colony.
